Frequently Asked Questions

Q What ages are served by the Cultural Tour of World Religions Curriculum?

A The curriculum provides material primarily suitable for children ages five through ten (K-3rd grade, though older children have enjoyed it also. We use icons to show whether certain activities are more suitable for younger or older children.

Q What if we have a class with mixed ages?

A The curriculum was designed to accommodate various developmental skill and interest levels, and can be easily varied as needed.

Q What is the structure of Cultural Tour of World Religions Curriculum?

A A Cultural Tour uses a historical/chronological approach to show the relationship between world religions. We dedicate three sessions to each religion so the children get in-depth knowledge about its main beliefs, creation stories, holidays and rituals. The final session for each religion teaches peace by featuring peace heroes from that religion.

Q What is the format of each session?

A Each session includes circle time, a story, an activity, and a craft, as well as background material for the RE teacher. We provide at least 1 hour of material, plus variations on activities and crafts, to accommodate your creativity and needs.

Q What makes it so easy for RE teachers to use?

A Any RE teacher, whether new or seasoned, will appreciate the organized layout (each session starts with advance preparation and supplies needed), background information on each religion, and the engaging material (kids thrive on the activities).

Q How does the curriculum accommodate active and creative children?

A Every session features active components that give the children the chance to move and explore all their senses, and the crafts use varied media (not just paper and markers!).

Q Do you have anything that adds even more dimension to this unique curriculum?

A We have a limited number of Religion Crates that contain artifacts pertaining to the religions being studied and their representative cultures. These crates are available for rent. We are also happy to help you customize your experience by providing ideas about other resources, cost recoupment methods, and suggestions for festivals and other celebrations of world religions or cultures.
